4. Statutory Provision for Compensation. — Wendt v. Minnetrista, 87 Minn. 403.

Some Other Way of Access Provided. — In Ontario it is provided by statute that no municipal council shall close up any public road or highway whereby any person will be excluded from ingress and egress to and from his lands or place of residence over such road, unless the council, in addition to compensation, also provides for the use of such person some other convenient road or way of access to the said lands or residence. A farm lot occupied by the owner as one farm was diagonally divided by a railway into two separate parcels, having a farm crossing provided by the railway, giving access from one parcel to the other. In addition to a road which afforded access to the parcel where his residence was, there was another road which gave access to the other parcel, and which, except by the farm crossing, was the only mode of access thereto. It was held that the latter road came within the statute, and could not be closed up by the municipal council unless, in addition to compensation, another road or way was provided in lieu thereof. Re Martin, 1 Ont. L. Rep. 645.

IX. CONTRACTS IN DEROGATION OF DOMESTIC RELATIONS — 1. Contracts Affecting the Marriage Relation — b. RESTRAINT OF FREEDOM OF MARRIAGE. — See note 3.

951. 2. That the Price Paid Was in Fact Reasonable will not prevent the contract from being illegal. Fletcher v. Johnson, (Mich. 1905): 102 N. W. Rep. 278.

3. Honest Combinations Among Purchasers Allowed. — Olson v. Lamb, 56 Neb. 104, 71 Am. St. Rep. 670; Barnes v. Morrison, 97 Va. 372.

Agreement Between Railroad Bondholders on Foreclosure Upheld. — Fidelity Ins., etc., Co. v. Roanoke St. R. Co., 98 Fed. Rep. 475.

Agreement for Protection of Interest Upheld. — De Baun v. Brand, 61 N. J. L. 624.

In the Leasing of Public Lands at Auction it does not seem to be against public policy for an intending purchaser of one piece of land on his own behalf to bid for another piece immediately contiguous on behalf of another purchaser, who is present and directing the bids, where the whole transaction is openly done in the presence and with the knowledge of the officer conducting the sale. State v. Follmer, (Neb. 1903) 94 N. W. Rep. 103.

952. 1. Knowledge and Consent of Person Liable to Be Injured. — Fairy v. Kennedy, 68 S. Car. 250; Barnes v. Morrison, 97 Va. 372.

953. 2. Suppression of Competition at Letting of Public Contracts — United States. — McMullen v. Hoffman, 174 U. S. 639, affirming (C. C. A.) 83 Fed. Rep. 372.

Idaho. — Brady v. Yost, 6 Idaho 273.

Canada. — Stevenson v. Boyd, 5 British Columbia 626.

See, however, Marshalltown Stone Co. v. Des Moines Brick Mfg. Co., 114 Iowa 574.

Withdrawing from Contract. — "There is no difference in principle between hiring a party not to bid and hiring him to withdraw his bid and allow the other party to have the contract." Conway v. Garden City Paving, etc., Co., 190 Ill. 89.

Lease of Public Pier — Agreement to Stifle Competition at Public Letting Illegal. — Coverly v. Terminal Warehouse Co., 70 N. Y. App. Div. 82.

In the Case of a Quasi-public Contract, awarded by a railroad company, the rule has also been applied. Southard v. George W. Jump Co., (Supm. Ct. Spec. T.) 43 Misc. (N. Y.) 164.

Sale of Business. — The rule does not prevent a contractor engaged in the general business of building sewers, etc., from disposing of his business and good will in good faith and retiring from the business and agreeing not to engage in such business within a restricted locality and for a specified time. Trentman v. Wahrenburg, 30 Ind. App. 304.

So in Mapes v. Metcalf, 10 N. Dak. 601, where in the sale of a newspaper by the proprietor to his rival, it was agreed that the seller should receive a certain percentage of the profits received by the buyer from public printing, and the seller further agreed not to start another paper in the locality, the contract was held not to be illegal.

Private Contract. — A contract which may suppress competition at the letting of private construction contracts is not for that reason illegal, as the public has no concern in the letting of such contracts. Moore v. Florence First Nat. Bank, 139 Ala. 595. But compare Daily v. Hollis, 27 Tex. Civ. App. 570.

4. Bona Fide Arrangements Between Bidders Sustained. — McMullen v. Hoffman, 174 U. S. 639.

Inducement to Marry Particular Person. — A contract by a father for a benefit to a woman in consideration of her marrying his son, who had seduced her, is not illegal. Wright v. Wright, 114 Iowa 748.

Postponement of Time of Marriage. — A contract to marry which is not to be fulfilled until the death of the divorced wife of one of the parties is not against public policy as a restraint upon the freedom of marriage. Brown v. O'Dill, 104 Tenn. 250, 78 Am. St. Rep. 914.

Contract to Pay for Release from Employment. — A promise to pay the employer of a woman for releasing her from her contract of employment, thereby enabling the promisor to marry her, is not illegal as being in restraint of marriage. Holz v. Hanson, 115 Wis. 236.

The provision of the New York Domestic Relations Law that "a husband and wife cannot contract to alter or dissolve the marriage or to relieve the husband from his liability to support his wife" does not prohibit a husband and wife who have separated because of the cruelty of the husband from contracting with each other for money to be paid by the husband for the wife's support, etc. Dower v. Dower, (Supm. Ct. Tr. T.) 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 559.

An agreement on the part of the sheriff with the plaintiff to an action that his fees for the service of papers in the action shall be contingent upon the recovery by the plaintiff is against public policy. But an agreement by a sheriff serving papers in a litigation with the attorney for the plaintiff to look only to the plaintiff for the payment of his fees, and not to hold the attorney liable therefor, is not against public policy. Edgerly v. Hale, 71 N. H. 138.

529. 6. In the Absence of Notice of a Rule. — See Watson v. Loughran, 112 Ga. 837, permitting recovery for jewels stolen from a room left unlocked, on evidence that servants of the hotel knew of the plaintiff's failure to lock the door, since in the exercise of the "extraordinary diligence" required by statute the loss might have been avoided by the servants of the defendant.

Roessle*, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 787.

532. 3. Keepers of Boarding Houses and Lodging Houses Not Liable as Innkeepers. — Bailey v. People, 190 Ill. 34, citing 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 530-532.

533. 3. Custody of Innkeeper's Servants. — Carhart v. Wainman, 114 Ga. 632, 88 Am. St. Rep. 45.

Leaving Goods in the Room of the Guest is a delivery to the innkeeper, under Civ. Code Ga., § 2936. Watson v. Loughran, 112 Ga. 837.

534. 2. Delivery of a Baggage Check to the innkeeper is prima facie evidence of a delivery of the baggage. Carhart v. Wainman, 114 Ga. 632, 88 Am. St. Rep. 45.

535. 5. Cases Declaring Innkeepers Liable as Insurers. — Briggs v. Todd, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 208.

The Georgia Statute provides that in case of loss the presumption is want of proper diligence in the landlord. Watson v. Loughran, 112 Ga. 837.

536. 3. Accidental Fires. — In Johnson v. Chadbourn Finance Co., 89 Minn. 310, 99 Am. St. Rep. 571, quoting 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 536, the court modified the doctrine of Lusk v. Beloit, 22 Minn. 468, and laid down the rule as follows: "All losses of property incurred by guests at a public hotel or inn by fire are prima facie due to the negligence of the proprietor, but he may discharge or relieve himself from liability by showing that the loss happened by an irresistible force or unavoidable accident, such as fire originating upon premises over which he had no control, without fault or negligence on his part."

538. 2. Reason for Doctrine of Absolute Liability Questioned. — Johnson v. Chadbourn Finance Co., 89 Minn. 310, 99 Am. St. Rep. 571.

540. 4. Limitation of Liability by Notice to Guest. — See Harris v. Childs' Unique Dairy Co., (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 84 N. Y. Supp. 260, holding that placards on the wall observed by a customer, and printed warnings on the bill of fare, operated to limit a restaurant keeper's liability for the customer's property.

Waiver of Limitation by Agent. — Where a notice on a bill of fare in a restaurant negated liability for loss of wearing apparel, but a waiter took the plaintiff's coat and said that he would care for it, the restaurant keeper was held to be responsible. La Salle Restaurant, etc., House v. McMasters, 85 Ill. App. 677.

542. 2. Statutes Strictly Construed. — Briggs v. Todd, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 208; Rains v. Maxwell House Co., 112 Tenn. 219.

3. Waiver of Statute. — The New York statute was held to be waived where the defendant's managing clerk suggested to a guest that her jewelry be left in the trunk in her room, which was done, and the keys to the trunk and the room were placed in the clerk's custody. Friedman v. Breslin, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 268, affirmed 169 N. Y. 574.

543. 6. Watches. — A watch and fob come within the Tennessee statute providing that wherever the proprietor of any hotel or inn furnishes a safe or other convenient place for the safe keeping of any money, jewels, or ornaments of guests, he shall not be liable for any loss. Rains v. Maxwell House Co., 112 Tenn. 219.

544. 1. Articles of Personal Use or Convenience. — See Rains v. Maxwell House Co., 112 Tenn. 219, citing 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 543.

546. 1. Liability for Personal Injuries to Guest — Calye's Case Doubted. — See Clancy v. Barker, (C. C. A.) 131 Fed. Rep. 161, per Thayer, J., dissenting, citing 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 545.

4. What Is Negligence in Servant of Restaurant Keeper. — See Block v. Sherry, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 43 Misc. (N. Y.) 342.

7. Modern Rule — Innkeeper Liable for Assaults

547. (3) By Other Guests and Strangers. — See note 2.

548. 5. Securing and Enforcing Right to Compensation — a. LIEN ON GOODS OF GUESTS — (1) The Right in General — (a) Innkeepers Proper. — See notes 4, 5.

549. (b) Boarding-house and Lodging-house Keepers. — See note 3.

550. (2) To What Lien Attaches — (a) Property Belonging to Guests — Wages of Guests. — See note 5.

(b) Property of Third Persons, in Possession of Guests. — See note 7.

551. See notes 2, 3, 4.

554. b. ACTION FOR PRICE OF ENTERTAINMENT. — See note 4.

555. 7. Criminal Liability of Guests. — See note 7.

by Servants. — Where the plaintiff resorted to the defendant's public house for the purpose of partaking of a meal and awakening a friend who had a room in the hotel, it was held that the innkeeper was liable for a malicious assault upon him by a servant. Overstreet v. Moser, 88 Mo. App. 72.

Tort Outside Scope of Employment. — In Clancy v. Barker, (C. C. A.) 131 Fed. Rep. 161, citing 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 546, 547, it was held that an innkeeper was not liable to a guest for a physical injury done to him by a servant of the innkeeper while acting outside the scope of his employment. See also Stringfellow v. Grunewald, 109 La. 187. But see Clancy v. Barker, (Neb. 1904) 98 N. W. Rep. 440, where, on the same state of facts, the innkeeper was held to be liable.

In California an innkeeper is only liable for the torts of a servant committed within the scope of his authority. Rahmel v. Lehdorff, 142 Cal. 681, 100 Am. St. Rep. 154.

546. 8. Applicability of Rule Governing Carriers of Passengers. — In Clancy v. Barker, (Neb. 1904) 98 N. W. Rep. 440, after considering the duties of a common carrier to its passengers, it was said that the reasoning applied with equal force to a hotel keeper as regards his duties to his guests.

But in Clancy v. Barker, (C. C. A.) 131 Fed. Rep. 161, which involved the same state of facts, it was held by the Circuit Court of Appeals that there was no analogy between the duties of a common carrier toward a passenger and those of an innkeeper toward a guest. And to the same effect see Rahmel v. Lehdorff, 142 Cal. 681, 100 Am. St. Rep. 154.

547. 2. Innkeeper Liable for Trespasses of Third Persons. — Curran v. Olson, 88 Minn. 307, 97 Am. St. Rep. 517.

548. 4. Right to Lien on Effects of Guests. — Reg. v. Hollingsworth, 2 Can. Crim. Cas. (N. W. Ter.) 291.

549. 3. Statutory Lien of Boarding-house and Lodging-house Keepers. — Shearman v. Iroquois Hotel, etc., Co., (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 42 Misc. (N. Y.) 217, holding, however, that where by the terms of the lease between the plaintiff's husband and defendant, the former had the absolute right of use and occupation of the premises, and the defendant could enter only to make repairs and alterations, the relation of landlord and tenant was created, and not that of lodging-house keeper and lodger; Barnett v. Walker, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 323.

Common-law Lien Not Affected. — Polk v. Melenbacker, 136 Mich. 611, 11 Detroit Leg. N. 130.

550. 5. Innkeeper's Lien Extended by Statute to Wages of Guests. — See Liess v. Engard, 15 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 173, 8 Pa. Dist. 608, 13 York Leg. Rec. (Pa.) 109.

7. Property of Third Person in Possession of Guest. — Polk v. Melenbacker, 136 Mich. 611, 11 Detroit Leg. N. 130, citing 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 550.

551. 2. Shearman v. Iroquois Hotel, etc., Co., (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 42 Misc. (N. Y.) 217.

3. Statutory Provisions. — The New York statute, Laws N. Y. 1897, c. 118, § 71, amended by Laws N. Y. 1899, c. 380, provides that a hotel keeper or boarding-house keeper shall have a lien on the guest's property unless he knew when it was brought upon the premises that the guest's possession was wrongful. Under this statute it was held that no lien attached to a sewing machine in a boarder's possession, where the legal title and right of possession were in a third person. Barnett v. Walker, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 323.

Under the Quebec statute the proprietor of a hotel or inn has a lien on the effects of a guest only, and none on those belonging to other persons and brought upon the premises by his guest. Taylor v. O'Brien, 24 Quebec Super. Ct. 407.

4. Existence of Common-law Rule under American Constitutions Questioned. — Barnett v. Walker, (Supm. Ct. App. T.) 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 323.

554. 4. Action for the Price of Entertainment. — Baldwin v. Webb, 121 Ga. 416 (boarding-house keeper).

Who Can Recover for Entertainment. — Under the Kentucky statute no person other than the keeper of a tavern or house of private entertainment may recover the value of such entertainment in the absence of an agreement for compensation; and the burden of proving status is on the claimant for compensation. Ramsey v. Keith, 76 S. W. Rep. 142, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 382.

555. 7. Criminal Liability of Guests for Fraudulent Practices. — State v. Engle, 156 Ind. 339.

Fraudulent Intent in Removal of Baggage. — Under the Indiana statute it has been held that intent to defraud is not essential in the removal of baggage, and that the constitutional provision prohibiting imprisonment for debt except in case of fraud is not violated, as the offense consists in the jeopardizing of the lien, and not in the failure to pay the debt. State v. Engle, 156 Ind. 339.

556. INNUENDO.—See note 1.
INOFFICIOUS WILL.—See note 2.

Under the Pennsylvania statute of April 20, 1876, fraud is shown where a surreptitious removal of baggage is accompanied with an intention to escape paying an accrued board bill. Com. v. Billig, 25 Pa. Super. Ct. 477.

556. 1. Grand v. Dreyfus, 122 Cal. 58; Donahoe v. Star Pub. Co., 4 Penn. (Del.) 166; Wallace v. Homestead Co., 117 Iowa 348; Jones v. Roberts, 73 Vt. 201.

2. Idiocy.—See note 2.

563. 3. Lunacy.—See note 1.

5. Delusions and Hallucinations.—See note 3.

6. Imbecility.—See notes 4, 5.

7. Senile Dementia.—See note 6.

8. Delirium Tremens.—See note 7.

9. Moral Insanity—Irresistible Impulse—Emotional Insanity—Moral Insanity.—See note 9.

564. Emotional Insanity.—See note 3.

10. Monomania.—See note 4.

12. Kleptomania.—See note 8.

562. 1. Insanity Defined.—In Lowe v. State, 118 Wis. 641, the following instruction was held correct: "Insanity means such a perverted and deranged condition of the mental and moral faculties as to render a person incapable of distinguishing between right and wrong, or not conscious at the time of the nature of the act which he is committing; and where, though conscious of it, and able to distinguish between right and wrong, and knowing that the act is wrong, yet his will—by which is meant the governing power of his mind—has been, otherwise than voluntarily, so completely destroyed that his actions are not subject to it, but are beyond his control." See also Butler v. State, 102 Wis. 364.

Power to Manage Estate.—Smith's Lunacy, 12 Pa. Super. Ct. 649.

2. Idiocy.—In re Anderson, 132 N. Car. 243.

563. 1. Lunacy.—In re Anderson, 132 N. Car. 243, citing 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 562.

Lunatic Defined—Test.—"A party who, from unsoundness of mind, is incapable of managing his affairs is a lunatic, although not totally incapable of taking care of himself. The unsoundness of mind is the test. A merely weak-minded person, if his condition be not abnormal, and he be not an idiot, is not a lunatic. It is not a question of strong intellect, of average intellect, or of weak intellect. It is a question of unsoundness of intellect and of abnormal condition of mind." Smith's Case, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 487, affirmed 12 Pa. Super. Ct. 649.

In New York by Statute the term "lunacy" includes every kind of unsoundness of mind except idiocy. Matter of Wells, 175 N. Y. 139;

Matter of Clark, 57 N. Y. App. Div. 5, appeal dismissed 169 N. Y. 595.

Distinction Between Lunatics and Idiots.—Lunatics are distinguished from idiots by the fact that the former may have lucid intervals while the latter have no power of mind whatever. Bicknell v. Spear, (Supm. Ct. Spec. T.) 38 Misc. (N. Y.) 389.

3. An Insane Delusion exists whenever a person conceives something extravagant to exist which has no existence whatever, and he is incapable of being permanently reasoned out of that conception. Bohler v. Hicks, 120 Ga. 800.

4. Imbecility.—In re Emswiler, 11 Ohio Dec. 10, 8 Ohio N. P. 132.

5. In re Emswiler, 11 Ohio Dec. 10, citing 16 AM. AND ENG. ENCYC. OF LAW (2d ed.) 563.

An Imbecile, as the term is ordinarily used and understood, is one who is mentally weak, rather than insane. Cagle v. Drew, (Kan. 1904) 78 Pac. Rep. 427.

6. Senile Dementia.—Pyott v. Pyott, 90 Ill. App. 210, affirmed 191 Ill. 280.

A Statement by a Debtor that He Is Unable to Pay His Debts in Full is not by itself an act of bankruptcy within the meaning of the English Bankruptcy Act making it an act of bankruptcy for the debtor to give notice that he has suspended, or that he is about to suspend, payment of his debts. In re Reis, (1904) 2 K. B. 769.

The Amendment of Feb. 5, 1903, c. 487, § 2, provides an additional act of bankruptcy in the words, "or because of insolvency a receiver or trustee has been put in charge of his property under the laws of a state." *Lowenstein v. Provision Not Retroactive. — Seaboard Steel Casting Co. v. William R. Trigg Co., 124 Fed. Rep. 75.

3b. Noncompliance with Bankruptcy Notice. — Under the English Bankruptcy Act a debtor commits an act of bankruptcy if a creditor has obtained a final judgment against him for any amount, and, execution thereon not having been stayed, has served on him a bankruptcy notice under this act, requiring him to pay the judgment debt in accordance with the terms of the judgment, or to secure or compound for it to the satisfaction of the creditor or the court, and if he does not within seven days after service of the notice either comply with the requirements of the notice, or satisfy the court that he has a counterclaim, set-off, or cross-demand which equals or exceeds the amount of the judgment debt, and which he could not set up in the action in which the action was discharged. Re A Debtor, 91 L. T. N. S. 321; In re G. E. B., (1903) 2 K. B. 340; Ex p. Mendelssohn, (1903) 1 K. B. 216; In re O. C. S., (1904) 2 K. B. 161; In re Smith, (1903) 1 K. B. 33.

Where a bankruptcy notice has been complied with by the debtor giving security for the judgment debt to the satisfaction of the creditor, which security by its terms is not to be realized till a future day, the creditor cannot issue a fresh bankruptcy notice in respect to the same judgment debt during the pendency of the security, notwithstanding a term providing that the judgment is still to be in full force. In re Smith, (1903) 1 K. B. 33.

"Final Judgment." — An order made upon a petition under the English Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, ordering that letters patent be revoked and that the defendant pay the plaintiff's costs, is not a "final judgment" within the meaning of those words as used in the English Bankruptcy Act, 1883, and a bankruptcy notice therefore cannot be issued upon it in respect of the costs ordered to be paid. Re Owen, 83 L. T. N. S. 572.

3c. Admissibility of Evidence to Prove Acts of Bankruptcy. — Upon the hearing of a bankruptcy petition the books of a debtor are admissible to prove the act of bankruptcy, and the debtor may himself be called for the same purpose. In re X. Y., (1902) 1 K. B. 98.

3. Whole Amount Provable. — Where at the date of the bankruptcy the debtor owed £16,500 to one of his creditors on account of moneys advanced to him on his depositing a transfer of shares which turned out to be a forgery, and subsequently a third person who was formerly a partner of the debtor, whilst repudiating all liability for the fraud of the debtor, voluntarily, and without the debtor's knowledge, paid £6,500 for the loss thereby sustained, it was held that the payment was not made on account of either the debt or the debtor, and that the creditor could prove for the full amount of the debt without deducting the £6,500. In re Rowe, (1904) 2 K. Deduction of New Credits. — The Bankruptcy Act of 1898, § 60c, provides that "if a creditor has been preferred and afterwards in good faith gives the debtor further credit without security of any kind for property which becomes a part of the debtor's estate, the amount of such new credit remaining unpaid at the time of the adjudication in bankruptcy may be set off against the amount which would otherwise be recoverable from him." The decisions as to whether this section applies to a voluntary surrender on proof of claim by a preferred creditor, or is limited to cases where the trustee sues, are in hopeless conflict. The weight of authority holds that the section applies to voluntary surrenders. McKey v. Lee, (C. C. A.) 105 Fed. Rep. 923; In re Ryan, 105 Fed. Rep. 760; In re Seckler, 106 Fed. In Bryan v. Bernheimer, 181 U. S. 188, it was held that the District Court had jurisdiction in summary proceedings to determine the title of one who, with notice of the bankruptcy proceedings, purchased from the general assignee after the filing of the petition, but before the appointment of the trustee.

In Louisville Trust Co. v. Comingor, 184 U. S. 18, the court held that jurisdiction would not be taken to decide the validity of a claim by the general assignee to retain funds of the bankrupt's estate to cover disbursements and commissions, since the claim was adverse and not merely colorable, and the assignee had not consented to the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court.

"Consent of the Proposed Defendant" — What Constitutes. — An appearance in the bankruptcy proceedings and contesting the questions arising therein upon their merits has been held to be a consent to the jurisdiction of the District Court. Sinsheimer v. Simonson, 106 Fed. Rep. 870; In re Steuer, 104 Fed. Rep. 976; In re Riker, 107 Fed. Rep. 96; Boonville Nat. Bank v. Blakey, (C. C. A.) 107 Fed. Rep. 891; In re Riker, (C. C. A.) 109 Fed. Proof of the debt in bankruptcy proceedings, which is the basis of an action in the state court, does not operate as a consent to the jurisdiction of the United States court, so as to deprive the state court of jurisdiction. Pickens v. Roy, 187 U. S. 177.

Neglect of the claimant to abandon other claims against property not in the possession of the bankruptcy court will not be such a consent as will give jurisdiction to the District Court. Chicago First Nat. Bank v. Chicago Title, etc., Co., 198 U. S. 280.

Consent by appearing and contesting does not go to the method of procedure, and where that does not amount to due process of law, the appearance does not constitute a consent within the meaning of the act. Sinsheimer v. Simonson, (C. C. A.) 107 Fed. Rep. 898.

An appearance by a defendant to a rule to show cause issuing from the District Court will not bar his later objecting to its jurisdiction. In re Hemby-Hutchinson Pub. Co., 105 Fed. Rep. 909.

Jurisdiction of District Courts Extended by Amendment of 1903. — By the amendment of Feb. 5, 1903, district courts are given concurrent jurisdiction with the state courts of suits in equity to set aside voidable transfers made by the bankrupt within four months of the bankruptcy. Johnston v. Forsyth Mercantile Co., 127 Fed. Rep. 845; McNulty v. Feingold, 129 Fed. Rep. 1001; Horskins v. Sanderson, 132 Fed. Rep. 415; Lawrence v. Lowrie, 133 Fed. Rep. 995; Doroshov v. Ott, (C. C. A.) 134 Fed. Rep. 740.

A court of bankruptcy has power since the amendment of 1903 to determine the title to property which a claimant, as rescinding vendor under an alleged fraudulent agreement, elects to demand after institution of bankruptcy proceedings. In re Mertens, 131 Fed. Rep. 507.

The amendment does not confer upon the bankruptcy court a right to pass upon the title to property claimed adversely by, and in the possession of, a third person; but such rights must be determined in the state court or in the district court by consent of the defendant in a plenary proceeding. In re Teschmacher, 127 Fed. Rep. 728.

The amendment has been held to cover rights of action arising previous to its passage. Pond v. New York Nat. Exch. Bank, 124 Fed. Rep. 992.

The amendment does not authorize an order requiring a state sheriff claiming property adversely to deliver it to the bankruptcy court. In re Andre, (C. C. A.) 135 Fed. Rep. 736.

The amendment merely extends the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court over the recovery of fraudulent conveyances and does not give jurisdiction over the persons of the defendants without their consent. Gregory v. Atkinson, 127 Fed. Rep. 184.

The Bankruptcy Court, Having Possession of the Property, will take jurisdiction to determine rights therein and will enjoin any proceedings in the state courts relative thereto. In re Whitener, (C. C. A.) 105 Fed. Rep. 180; White v. Schloerb, 178 U. S. 542; In re Kellogg, 113

Object of Search. — In The Schooner Jane, 37 Ct. Cl. 29, the court said: "The detention of a neutral vessel is to ascertain, not by the flag merely, which may be fraudulently assumed, but by the documents themselves on board, whether she is really neutral. The object of searching ostensible neutrals is to get evidence as to the fact of neutrality, and if the cargo be not enemy's property; or if neutral, whether they are carrying contraband; or whether the vessels are in the service of the enemy in the way of carrying military persons or dispatches or sailing in prosecution of an intent to break blockade. It is sometimes necessary to examine papers and inspect the vessels as well as the cargoes and persons on board, and the question as to the propriety of the capture of each vessel is a mixed question of law and fact."

The Right Given by a Domestic Statute to Oppose and Defend Against any Search must give way to the international rule stated in the text. The Schooner Jane, 37 Ct. Cl. 29.

Effect of Constructive Resistance to Search. — In The Brig Sea Nymph, 36 Ct. Cl. 369, it is said that it is not yet settled by judicial authority whether constructive resistance to search raises a conclusive presumption against the vessel or only presents suspicious circumstances susceptible of explanation.

A Greater or Less Determined Resistance with greater or less loss of life and injury does not change or affect the law relating to resistance to search. The Ship Amazon, 36 Ct. Cl. 378.

Extreme Violence Threatened by a Belligerent Grossly Abusing His Commission. — The general rule is that forcible resistance is good ground for condemnation. There is an exception, however, in a case where a neutral is justified in defending against extreme violence threatened by a belligerent grossly abusing his commission. The Ship Rose, 36 Ct. Cl. 290.

Grave Apprehension of Illegal Condemnation will not justify a neutral vessel in resisting the right of search by a belligerent. The Ship Rose, 36 Ct. Cl. 290.

Treaties Have Sometimes Prescribed the Evidence that Ship's Papers Should Show as to nationality and neutrality of vessel and cargo.
